

JoS Sites Attacked... Again

Post by HP. Hoodedcobra666

Fri Apr 23, 2021 10:27 pm

We are aware that some of our websites have been shot down again. Well, as things are, this is not going to stop. Every solution we have, the enemy takes time and resources to go around it. It all repeats.

So, fellow SS, the situation is repeating itself and I have to be prompt here, because we'll try to restore things again.

The enemy wants us wiped out. We know that. They are very pre-occupied in attacking us all the time. I would be far off to say that they probably have units of people focusing specific on this at this point.

There are clearly adversaries against us that are not what they were before. This includes above and below. I don't want to get into all the details here because it's a waste of time. Those who can "understand" will understand on their own.

Nobody wants you to have actual JoS information, and the enemy will not sit by watching their shit curses collapse and stop existing. The enemy is losing sleep that people know the things that they do.

The enemies have what appears to also be infinite time and funding, on top of it. Therefore the barraging is consistent. Therefore, everywhere we go, they follow behind us, and things like this happen, the sites are shot down.

I've seen some of the methods they do, and they are canned, but they seem to work almost every time. These deal with slander, fake reports, claiming falsehoods, and so on.

Like holy shit, even if we were hypothetically even Pirate Bay or a literal Torrenting site, we would be attacked way way less.

The problem is, they don't really think we'll go out forever, but it will keep repeating. They hope to attack our time, finances, and so on with this. This is a method to bleed us dry.

In a sense, as the enemy massacred every temple and harassed all the people going there for Pagans, they practice the same form of covert persecution today. Since the enemy can do nothing else, covert deceptive methods and attacks are their next go-to right now.

Therefore it's repetitive and constant. The enemy has infinite resources, and manpower to do that, and they know repeating that, spends equal force from our own. They therefore repeat it.

We're also impossible to be hosted in any "commercial" normal stuff places where everyone can host, which are both cheap and effective. Why?

Inferior SJW humans and other passive aggressive evil people, also "professionally" take it on themselves to let's say, provide shit support if they see that we are so evil kaneevil and might say we have reservations about their lord and savior Joe Biden or something in our material. Free speech culture is dying in the United States.

They can host pedos of course like GoDaddy, but Gods forbid they host someone who questions their shit agenda or anything.

At this point, one would moving to Communist China, maybe there is more freedom of speech and opinion there, maybe we could host there with less problems. At least over there we know it has Communism, over here, we pretend that shit like 50% taxes professed by Biden to feed anyone but the working class, aren't Communism still, and this slow shit is really really tiring and psycho-dramatic.

We also have to pretend shit like we have free speech while it's all bullshit. We had free speech up until the 2000. In 2017, we heard the final cries of Free Speech. Now it's officially dead. At least Communists tell you it's the case, they don't lie all day pretending we have freedom of expression or some shit.

You can't rule anything out these days. Anyway, hyperbole and jokes aside...

This is no different than how when Sumer fell, people went to built Egypt. Then the enemy followed on Egypt. Then to Rome, then to Greece, then to the United States. They don't give up, and neither should we.

I will make a post after the situation is fixed at least temporarily, because we have to push it to the next level to have a semblance of normalcy. While I expected the sites would stand during Jewish holidays [they did], they seem to have found another hole through which to attack us now. This is recurring and repeats itself.

The forums do stand however, which is positive. I cannot relate details as to how, but yeah, there are solutions. We'll keep existing, rest reassured.

At some point, I honestly want to rent a literal satellite to host the JoS. And may be even then, this will not be enough. Until this day comes, we have to keep doing the things that we do.

I want to also know henceforth, that as I am always reliable for others, others are also reliable for me. This is the context of family. We have to hold this place up together, for the benefit of all.

The enemy wants to take down our temple, and we have to make sure that they fail and get punished severely.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666