

ANCIENT ETHICS AND PHILOSOPHY

Elitism and Superiority, and the Labyrinth

WRITTEN BY

High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

October 23, 2016

(This article is no longer accessible; it is preserved in the Library archives.)

LIBRARY OF THOTH

WWW LIBRARY OF THOTH ORG

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. NO PART OF THIS BOOK MAY BE REPRODUCED OR TRANSMITTED IN ANY FORM WITHOUT WRITTEN PERMISSION FROM THE TEMPLE OF ZEUS.

Greetings to all our People and Zevic Comrades.

To briefly explain these things. You are not "Superior" towards anyone just because of some nonsense reason. Yes, with the enslaved Gentile down the street, you are superior for you have figured out a couple of things more than them. For those deeper in, you fight for what's right and this elevates you even further. Then your advancement and everything ties in.

Acceptance and strength comes from taking yourself as you are, and advancing who you are. Not making up fables.

Big league can only be real league. Otherwise one is not who they think they are anymore they are a character in a video game they play.

A lot of people from making up reasons about how worthless they are (thanks jews), in the pendulum swing, try to generate reasons as to "why they are awesome". This sometimes mixes when one does meditation, and sometimes we have an overfilling of delusions. That portrays as elitism when it's not.

This is all part of the same, labyrinth of the jews and the general Samsaric level of consciousness (That of an 'animal').

The Ancient Greek epic for this is about Dedalus and Icarus. Dedalus and Icarus were trapped into the Labyrinth of King Minoas (let's say the Samsara, or Spiritual Confusion) and they could go nowhere as a result. For days and days they were getting nowhere, and were being lost over and over again. They were under the danger of being devoured by the Minoan Bull, who was searching for them in the labyrinth (confusion generates monsters, same as stupidity). The Minoan bull was created by the 'Waters' and is a symbol of Taurus. In plain we can translate that in being being stubborn into one's delusions. The bull would eventually devour those who were sitting down in this plane of confusion and convicted in those.

So Daedalus being crafty and intelligent, he created wax wings for him and his son, Icarus, to escape the labyrinth (this is an allegory for the spiritual part of the mind), so they could finally escape the labyrinth.

The young Icarus, tempted by the ability to suddenly fly, didn't listen to his father's warning to not go close to the sun or too close to the sea, as the fake wings were made with wax that would eventually melt and Icarus would die. The humidity of the water (the unconscious) or the fire of the Sun (the spirit), if approached with fake tools, without thought, and without a honest grounding, would melt his newfound "abilities" and destroy him.

So were people who wanted to go towards the Sun (Symbolizing good) but instead of growing their own, real spiritual wings (insight and spirituality, and mature thought) tried to go into the fast track, by generating illusions. Icarus thought himself as a bird, but he was not a bird.

In his mind, he may have believed it. It was a 'reality' to him. (you may want to be better than a holocaust imaginary survivor, wouldn't you) The metaphor here could be drugs, lies repeated to one's self about how great and mighty one was "in a past life" but now may suck, how the next life will be better, or whatever else fable made up, how one's problems are always others, or any sorts of confusions that are obviously out of place, trying to fool others into thinking highly of you when you aren't on the level that you project, etc etc.

The sea below Icarus, symbolizes the unconscious, which can give rise to illusions if one has lack of knowledge (symbolized by air) and correct judgement. It can be the ultimate power to help you go towards good, if its treated with honest and maturity. When one learns to fly, towards the sun, they need to know the air as well. And the water tides which are learned in time. The Sun is the completing of the Work.

Icarus of course didn't give much of an interest in his father's words, and attempted flying close to the sun, to give himself the illusion of being close to the sun and able to reach it. Shortly, his wings that would save him from the slavery of the labyrinth, melted, and he fell into the sea and did drown forever. One's tools of freedom, due to misuse and neglecting warning, became one's own tool of permanent enslavement to death. Icarus died by his own lack of consideration and letting his 'fable making' part of the mind override him.

Balance is required and also integrity with one's self. Lying to one's self, overestimating needlessly, and trying to force "the snake out of its hole" (even in the literal sense of the Serpent) can be problematic. Zevism is about TRUTH, not filling one's head with garbage.

All people are here because they felt they were "more than this" or pretty much, what the jewish system, or the scoundrels of it, dictated that you "were". This comes from a sensing of an innate value in yourself. The respect of this is to repect this and strive to make it bigger.

When we talk of superiority here, we talk in matters of character first and foremost. As the Ancient Greek saying goes, one's character is one's Daemon. Daemon is a code word for one's spiritual essence, in the internal notion of the word. You are better than others because you are not a jewish slave, you are thinking more for yourself, and because you have a superior morality than those of the jews. You are not a slave, and this automatically raises you above all slaves. But comparing to a slave is really not that of a big feat. You don't really need to compare to those who are willingly enslaved.

However this "superiority" in the moral and spiritual realm, and in your essence (the choice to advance rather than detoriate back to non-existence), this is on its own a class system of the "Gods" or at least higher beings. Those enslaved to the enemy have other systems of consideration. Who just have the morality of the slave or the criminal under a funny and good looking shroud. They are in the labyrinth.

There is a lot of trashtalk, especially by the self-proclaimed, anti christian (((Zevists))) who think that their dedication alone, or anything like that, makes them automatically "superior" to anyone else. Sometimes this is coupled with the discovery that one can do a bunch of things with their brain, so people naturally fly off the hook. So they call themselves "Gods". Realistically speaking, they are nowhere towards or close to that level.

These people are the same as Icarus. Being in communion with the Daemons for the first time, or in their own wishful thinking, they believe highly on themselves. But this is just wishful thinking and not real faith in one's self.

In Zevism one's superiority is what they do to advance themselves, better the world, and help people escape, while being a worthwhile human being that instead of deteriorating towards the consciousness of an animal (Goyim in hebrew, degradatory title for spiritually enslaved gentiles) go towards a higher consciousness, through sane means and spiritually advancing. This is what makes you superior to other beings. This also has a racial dimension, and the dimension of all other beings as well. Primordial Zevism is a civilizer religion for the civilized.

The enemy and all the Ancient proofs admit that Zeus built civilization. For this reason the ethical, religious, and advancement system was based on this.

In plain terms, one's success is how good they fly, and how they complete the flight towards freedom. One is appreciated for wanting to get out of the labyrinth, but this on its own means nothing.

Or else your arguments about how "good" and "superior" and "elite" you are, or even a "god", are as vague as this feminist fellow:

The whole model of this society is built on slavery values. The bigger the slave, the "greater" they rank in the jewish slave system. This has a whole reality around it.

Now as about owning, which of course is natural and absolutely healthy, to be happy about what one is, or what one strives to be, but on the other hand this has become extremely pathological in this age. This is because infact owning is of supreme good, but the jews overexaggerated this with their essence of greed.

So Because the jews, who are the creators of this system, are in themselves nothing, but own everything, this is now seen on reverse.

So the attention of this civilization is not in the essence of the other beings and their great acts, but instead focused on the materialistic aspect solely. Which bleeds over bad in civilization.

This tendency to over-fill or blow up one's self with a false sense of superiority is why all people in Zevism go through a re-wiring process.

Your value is first and foremost in your character, ethos and Soul. Your value is in who you really are. And this should be enough to fulfill you, as in Zevism you can ascend ever higher.

Zeus doesn't want his children to end up like Icarus, but if his children don't listen closely, they can suffer consequences of ignorance, which the closer one flies in a fake way towards the sun, the more painful will be the drop.

And the more time they will have wasted from completing the real flight towards Godhead.

In Zevism one starts developing an internal world, and one starts building up their Soul. This is realistic, natural, and builds upon the models of nature.

Zevism is not a race of who has the biggest delusions, or who acts better than a parasite, or anything else that resembles the Jewish systems and reality. Zevism is an elitist religion on the basis of which is on the metaphysical power, manifested in this realm, and in all realms.

Elitist doesn't mean it excludes any Gentile. Anyone willing to advance is legit enough to join us, at this point. It means one enters the big league. Where big beings will guide them, and where one has to transform. It's a kingdom of those who learn and those who have mastered the Soul.

One's value at first is judged by how much they have eradicated the Jewish programming, and after one goes from this, one's value is judged by the basis of the metaphysical nature, one's realization, one's ability to give, work, and become better, as to drag aside themselves anyone else they can, in all methods they are personally gifted with, to a higher level.

Purposeful enemies of this mission which after all is a mission of NATURE and Zeus to humanity (the divine order of the cosmos) are considered inferior and we don't want them around. They can descend back to their loved non-existence as their (('dogma'))) says.

This is at least better than willingly serving the evil Jews who we fight.

These are those who are still in the labyrinth. Zevists are those who want to fly, as this is what makes one a Zevist.

Real and successful Zevists are those who complete the flight, and making their real and concrete wings, can finally ascend into the sun. Wings are the real liberation of the Soul.

In plain words. The higher one is on the ladder of light (as thus power), the higher one applies it to better one's self and the universe/others, the more one is inclined towards warding off the negativity and suffering (all of which comes from ignorance, which Zeus fights against), and the closer one is to being really THEMSELVES and nobody else because you are an individual blueprint to the whole universe- this is what defines how elite, superior and advanced one is. This is part one of it.

The part two. This then manifests to civilization, and builds greater civilizations, improving the general existence of humanity and realizing Zeus's vision of creating mankind into a place of enlightenment, eternal advancement, based on the title that has been given to Zeus - the doctrine of Truth.

Everyone that desires this, and adjusts themselves on this, can attain this. And all the powers, spoils, and even challenges that may come with it. A full-filling existence that is based on the purpose of why humanity exists in the first place.

Because no its not like humanity exists to be cattle to jews, or ignorant animals, or anything which they have been made into now. This is why this Spiritual War is being waged. There are deep reasons to this that all of you here know.

If anything of these is unclear, make sure to follow what Zeus stated: "I lead to the straight path without a revealed book."

This path is followed by meditating and elevating the spirit into higher levels.

Everyone who is willing, can do this, at their own pace. This is the justice in Zevism- that everyone has the chance for this, that all Gentiles do. From there on, one's nature, one's inclinations, one's willpower, one's visions, one's power, all these will define outcomes.

However, if you are here, you are with the ladder of light in front of you. Others are high deep into the light, others are in the middle, others are slowly slothing'z it slower, but everyone moves towards eternity.

So rejoice this fact and remember to look down in those who have fell into the pit of darkness, not necessarily to mock them, but to encourage yourself to go higher.

And when you're up enough, throw a ladder so they will too have a chance.

That's how it goes. If they try to pull you forcefully off the ladder, then kick them back to the pit as they deserve. There is no need for mercy that is unreal or justice that is just concealed cowardice.

How much of an 'elite' you are, how 'superior' you are, and how successful, is all ranked in if you complete your uprising, grow real, decent and strong wings, and in how much light you can transfer down and in yourself. It also counts how much lack of light, you banish.

Only with real Wings one can become part of the Family of the Gods:

This is how the real Elite and Superior beings are born.

It's because of this spiritual undertaking that you can call yourself, and strive to be, a superior being and an elite.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666